JEHANGIR RATANJI DADABHOY TATA

Jehangir Ratanji Dadabhoy Tata (29 July 1904 - 29 November 1993) was an Indian aviator, Industrialist, entrepreneur and Chairman of Tata Group.

Born into the Tata family of India, he was the son of noted businessman Ratanji Dadabhoy Tata and his wife Suzanne Briere. His mother was the first woman in India to drive a car and in 1929, he became the first licensed pilot of India. He is also best known for being the founder of several industries under the Tata group, including Tata Consulting Services, Tata Motors, Titan Industries, Tata Salt, Voltas and Air India. In 1983, he was awarded the French Legion of Honour and in 1955 and 1992, he received two of India's highest civilian awards the Padma Vibhushan and the Bharat Ratna. These honours were bestowed on him for his contributions to Indian industry.

J.R.D Tata was born as Jehangir on 29 July 1904 into a Parsi family. He was the Second child of Businessman.

As his mother was French, he spent much of his childhood in France as a result, French was his first language. He attended his school in Paris. One of the teachers at the school used to call him L'Egyptien.

Tata was educated in London, Japan, France and India. When his father joined the Tata Company, he moved the whole family to London. During the time, J.R.D.'s mother died.

After his mother's death, R.J. Tata decided to move his family to Kent and sent J.R.D. to England for higher studies. He was interested in studying Engineering at Cambridge University. Upon discovering Tata could not only read and write French and English, but could type as well. After his time in France, his father decided to bring him back to India and he joined the Tata Company.

In 1929, Tata renounced his French Citizenship and became an Indian Citizen.

He joined Tata Sons as an unpaid apprentice in 1925. At the age of 34, Tata was elected.

chairman of Tata Sons making him the head of the largest industrial group in India. For decades, he directed the huge Tata group of companies, the major interests in steel, engineering, power, chemicals and hospitality. He was famous for succeeding in business while maintaining high ethical standards - refusing to bribe politicians or use the black market.

Under his chairmanship, the assets of the Tata Group grew from US$100 million to over US$5 billion. He started with 14 enterprises under his leadership and half a century later. ~~ON~~

He also founded the Tata Institute of Social Sciences, the Tata Institute of Fundamental Research, and the National Center for Performing Arts.

Tata cared greatly for his workers. He initiated a programme of closer employee association with management to give workers a stronger voice in the affairs of the Company. He firmly believed in employee welfare and the principles of an eight-hour working day, free medical aid, workers'

Provident Scheme and workmen's accident Compensation Schemes, which were later adopted in India.

TO DEVELOP THE POSITIVE THINKING.

we can develop positive thinking by doing the following things in our day to day life.

focus on the good things:-

challenging situations and obstacles are a part of life. when you're faced with one, focus on the good things no matter how small or seemingly insignificant they seem.

spend time with positive people:-

Negativity and positivity have been shown to be contagious. consider the people with whom you're spending time. surround yourself with people who will lift you up and help you see the bright side.

start every day on a positive note:-

create a ritual in which you start off each day with something uplifting and positive. Here are a few ideas.

- * Tell yourself that it's going to be a great day or any other positive affirmation.

- * Listen to happy and positive song or playlist.

- * share some positivity by giving a compliment or doing something nice for someone.

Respect yourself and others too:-

Comparison is death of joy. Do not compare yourself with any one in this world.

Get positive goals:-

If you fail to plan, you plan to fail. one who is clear about do not believe in failure:-

fear of failure will lead one to negative thinking. we can not succeed without failing.

Have a strong and persistent desire:-

ambition is the path to success. & persistence is the vehicle you arrive in.
